About this scene, Shiro makes a pun here and that's why Kuro punches him. The pun doesn't translate at all but I'll try to explain it. What Shiro actually says is:

"What is the white rice that makes you feel good again when you eat it while upset?"

That's right!

Don't mind!

"Don't mind" (which here really means more "Don't worry") is said in English and usually written in katakana (ドンマイ), but here the "mind" part (pronounced "mai") is written with the kanji for "white rice" 米 since it can be pronounced "mai".
